

CANADA'S NEW LINK WITH ALASKA

It is not many years since Alaska was one of those countries whose geographical location was indicated with a grandiose sweep of the arm northwards. It has always been a land of mystery, romance and adventure. It has provided the theme for the thrilling tales of novelists and the stirring poems of northern bards. But even though the days of the club-axe and the sword are long past, the brief but active span of the historic Dan McGraw and the Lady Louie, matters of historical reference, the lure of Alaska has not faded from the hearts of men and women, who have a lot of romance left in them to give.

Alaska is no longer a far off country. It is a very near neighbor to Canada. It will be even nearer this summer. Mr. J. F. Delamater, Traffic Vice-President of the Canadian National Railway, has announced that commencing on June 22nd, the company will inaugurate a weekly steamship service between Prince Rupert and Alaska, and that the all-British steamships, "Prince George" and "Prince Rupert," which have already established a reputation as being among the best-appointed vessels on the Pacific Coast, will be engaged in the new service.

The first of the new ships will leave Prince Rupert on Wednesday morning, following the Monday of sailing from Vancouver, and tourists will be given an opportunity to see something of this new Pacific port, as the steamer

Some of the scenes along this magnificent sea voyage are shown in the photographs:

(1) A view of Skagway, Alaska, where visitors will be given ample time to see the town and also to visit White Horse and the Athabasca River.

(2) A beautiful sunset scene on the Lynn Canal, which the steamships Prince Rupert and Prince George will thread on their journey into the Land of the Midnight Sun.

(3) The Taku Glacier, one mile wide and ninety miles long—one of the largest and most beautiful glaciers in the world.

(4) The Prince Rupert, which will be used in the Vancouver-Prince Rupert-Alaska service this summer. These boats are the finest appointed vessels on the Pacific Coast service.

It is one of the curious facts noted to be found in the business section of Wrangell, Alaska.

does not continue on its northern trip until four weeks after the steamer has returned to New Metlakatla and Port Simpson, and then it will return to Alaska, where it will be used in the Vancouver-Prince Rupert-Alaska service this summer. These boats are the finest appointed vessels on the Pacific Coast service.

History and Bobbie's Tommy
Bobbie has had a terrible time remembering the dates and facts in his history lessons. The other day he came home from school with the lowest mark in history he ever had. So mother decided she would take his hand. She knows by experience that small boys (men, too) are quickest appealed to through their stomachs. So she looked about in the calendar for the next historical date and decided to give Bobbie some things to eat that day that would help him in the day.

Boston Cream
On March 5, 1776, just 155 years ago, the Boston Massacre occurred. Every time mother hands Bobbie one of these delicious Boston Creams she makes him repeat "March 5, 1776, Boston Massacre." There's one date he won't forget.

This is the way she made the cream:—1 cup of butter, creamed with 1½ cups of sugar gradually added, also 3 well beaten eggs. Dissolve a teaspoon of soda in 1½ tablespoons of water and add, then mix and sift together 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon bicarbonate, and half the flour, (3½ cups all together). Add four mixture to butter mixture, then add rest of flour with a cup of nut-meat—English walnuts or hickory nuts are nicest—½ cup of currants, and ½ cup raisins, washed and chopped fine, well and drop spoonfuls in each paper, bake in hot and bake in a moderate oven.

New York Gingerbread
Bobbie has had a hard time remembering that the first Governor of New York was in New York, not in Washington. So mother made him a New York Gingerbread, and every time he took a piece, before he put it into his mouth, he had to say "First Congress, March 4, 1789, New York." This is the gingerbread recipe:—Cream a cup of butter (scant), a tablespoonful less than a cup) and add gradually 1½ cups of flour and mix with 2 tablespoons of yellow ginger. Beat the yolks of 3 eggs till they are thick and lemon-colored, then add the creamed butter and powdered sugar. Combine the two mixtures, and add the stiffly beaten egg whites, and sift over it all a teaspoon of baking powder. Beat it all together thoroughly, turn it into a deep, well buttered cake tin, and bake an hour in a moderate oven.

Grant Cake
Another date that would mark Bobbie's memory was March 12, 1862, when General Grant was named commander in chief of the northern army. So mother handed up her recipe for Grant Cake, made him some of it and of course he had the date by heart by the time the cake was made.

This is the cake:—Cream 1 cup of butter and add a cup of sugar, mix well and beat. Add 1 well beaten egg and a cup of sugar, mix well and beat. Add 1 well beaten egg and a cup of sugar, mix well and beat. Add 1 well beaten egg and a cup of sugar, mix well and beat.

Cleveland Macaroni
If you wish to carry out the historical idea still further, on March 15 you might celebrate Grover Cleveland's birthday (providing you are a good Democrat, of course) by serving Cleveland Macaroni for lunch. Put 1½ cups of macaroni in 1½ lengths and boil until tender, then drain and combine with 2 cupfuls of white sauce, 1½ cups of dried chicken, 1 handful egg chopped fine, and 1½ cups of butter. Put in buttered baking dish and cover with 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs mixed with 1 cup of melted butter. Bake in moderate oven—325 to 375 degrees Fahrenheit, if your oven has a thermometer.

White Sauce
The white sauce is made by melting 2 tablespoons of butter, adding 2 cups of flour and stirring to a smooth blend. Do not let them brown. Add gradually a cup of milk, stirring constantly until it boils, then salt with 1½ teaspoon and add 1-2 teaspoon paprika, simmer 5 minutes.

AKAMIA HIGHWAY WILL BE READY FOR TOURIST SEASON
In discussing matters of interest to Southern Alberta with Hon. Chas. Stewart, minister of the interior, the Akamia Highway in the Western Lakes Park was taken up. The minister told the delegates from Macleod that an amount was in the estimates for the construction of this road, and he expected to have the work undertaken early in the spring, so as to be ready for tourist travel during the coming summer.

He would be delighted to see this completed early. This will give news for those who live in the park and those who contemplate taking this trip. It will mean more travel and a scenic highway from the west.

The fisheries will also receive attention, such as replenishing of the streams and taking the proper enforcement of the Fisheries Act.

REV. M. H. WILSON DELIVERED INTERESTING SERMONS

Rev. M. H. Wilson, B.A., of Edmonton, who visited Macleod in connection with his work as Provincial Organizer of the Presbyterian Church Union Committee preached at both services in the Methodist Church last Sunday and delivered kindly helpful messages to keenly interested congregations.

At the morning service he emphasized the necessity of separating from doctrinal views, with the spirit and teaching of Jesus, with the spirit and teaching of the Church has not coincided with the authoritative teaching of the new Testament. Wrong ideas about God have hindered the progress of religion.

Drawing his illustrations from everyday incidents of daily life and domestic experience, Mr. Wilson showed very clearly that ordinary lives help us to understand God's relationship to us—"If you, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more God?"

The evening service was based on the call of the prophet Ezekiel to his life work. The Prophet, who was a man of brilliant imagination, and strong passionate nature was called to minister to a people in an age of direct correspondence in many respects with the present time.

His thought with his previous message revealed emphasized three stages in the revelation of Ezekiel for his life work: Firstly a right conception of God; secondly, a proper respect for his own mission—A man with a message must stand before God and his fellowman and finally he must have a sympathetic understanding of the real life of the people he tries to help.

While the spirit of the prophet burned with indignation against the evils he saw around him and the apparent religious indifference of the Israelites in captivity, his indignation was tempered by his sympathy in their midst for seven days and came at last to realize the spirit of intense patriotism that led them, with such passionate devotion to their faith "they hanged their harps on the willows and wept when they remembered Zion."

Referring to the criticism that is so directed against the waywardness of modern youth, Mr. Wilson proved home the necessity of setting before them the ideal of faithfulness and of obtaining a sympathetic understanding of their position as the young people of today. The promises of life can be solved only by those who have really experienced what they mean—no God in his dealings with mankind has entered into human life in the person of Jesus, who himself has "borne our iniquities," and has shared our experiences of pain and hardship.

Excellent music by the choir and hearty congregational singing added to the interest of a very inspiring and impressive service.

A very handsome radio set all complete with loud speaker will be given away by the Macleod Agricultural Society on the last evening of the three day carnival to some lucky person. There will be no charge more than 25 cents for anything during the carnival. You pay twenty five cents to go in and you will be given tickets to that value to spend anywhere inside at the dances, side-shows, or other stalls.

TEAMWORK

Now this is the law of the Jungle—as old and as true as the sky. And the Wolf that shall keep it may prosper, but the Wolf that shall break it may die.

As the creeper that girdles the tree trunk, the law runneth forward and back.

For the strength of the Pack is the Wolf, and the strength of the Wolf is the Pack.

—Kipling

It was a revelation in ladies' corsets. Next time we will wait half a day. The general remarks however were "superb," "delightful," and prices reasonable. One lady said, "Oh do come again and stay for supper." The only regret was that so few knew about it until after it was over.
